WHEAT: MONTHLY AVERAGE CASH BIDS.....	17-19

HIGHLIGHTS:

Soybean markets dropped sharply across the nation during the week ended June 25. Downward pressure came from declining feed usage and slowed export demand coupled with reports that Brazil had devaluated their currency and offered increased amounts of soybean products for sale. Wheat and feed grain markets declined under pressure of lush pastures, spreading wheat harvest, high interest rates, which discourages ownership, and improved weather conditions in world grain producing areas.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets declined under pressure of spreading harvest, increased carryover stocks, high interest rates, and slowed domestic and export demand for wheat and flour. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat fell 14 1/2 cents per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat declined 19 1/4 cents, Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein dropped 20 1/4 cents, and Portland soft white wheat moved down 34 cents per bushel due to larger than expected carryover and prospects for a larger crop this year.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets declined in spite of delays in completing planting in Indiana and Ohio as rains were figured beneficial to the growing crop in most areas. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn ended 10 1/4 cents lower and Kansas City closed 7 3/4 cents lower per bushel. Kansas City white corn held steady with a complete absence of trade activity.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets were inactive as traders await harvest spread into Iowa. The Minneapolis oats market declined 14-22 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley moved mixed, down 10 cents to up 10 cents per bushel. Feed barley markets closed mixed.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets moved lower following corn down as feeder interest slowed and harvest spread in South Texas. Kansas City yellow sorghum fell 20 cents per hundred pounds. The Texas High Plains market eased 5-10 cents lower.

SOYBEANS:

Soybean markets fell sharply under pressure of slowed export for beans and products, good crop prospects, and Brazils devaluation of their currency increased offering of soybean products. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans fell 32 1/2 cents per bushel. Illinois processor point soybean prices and processing plants raised basis in an effort to maintain crush. Minneapolis flaxseed declined 25 cents per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed dropped 35 cents per bushel. Lack of new export business pressured the market lower.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat markets turned mostly stronger across the nation during the holiday shortened week ended July 1. Most market strength originated from reports that hot, dry weather was stressing Russian spring wheat and grain crops. Tight holding at the farm level added support. Feed grain markets closed mixed as corn disappearance was greater than expected but domestic and export feed business continued slow. Better than average pastures furnished a large amount of animal feed requirements, warm temperatures, limited animal feed intake, high interest rates discouraged building stocks, and strong U.S. currency values kept export buying at minimum levels.

WHEAT:

Rains and high moisture delayed winter wheat harvest and news that hot, dry weather was stressing Russian spring grain crops reversed the ten day down trend in wheat markets. Slowed farm selling added strength. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 7 1/2 cents higher per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved up 6 1/4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat traded 13 3/4 cents higher and medium milling quality durum finished steady to up 5 cents. Portland soft white wheat rose 1 cent per bushel.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets closed mixed but sharply above midweek low prices. Plentiful moisture over much of the corn belt had kept corn markets weak most of the period but at the close carryover stocks were reduced more than expected by larger disappearance. Reports of hot, dry weather stressing Russian spring grains added strength. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn finished 9 cents lower per bushel. Most other yellow corn markets finished the week at higher price levels. Kansas City white corn market was dull and unchanged.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets were under pressure of the nearby new crop harvest. Most prices moved lower. Minneapolis No. 2 heavy oats fell 10 to 14 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley closed steady to 10 cents lower and feed barley declined 10 cents per bushel. Stockton feed barley dropped 2 to 3 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Expanding sorghum harvest in Texas kept yellow sorghum markets weak. Kansas City market closed 5 cents lower and Texas High Plains market is steady to 5 cents lower per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets rebounded the last two trading days of the period as farm selling fell off and processors needed supplies to maintain crush level. Oil and meal price advance supported cash soybean values and improved crush margins for processing plants. Export demand showed a slight pick up for oil and meal. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans advanced 12 3/4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed traded unchanged. Duluth sunflower seed eased 5 cents lower per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grains moved to mostly higher price levels across the nation during the week ended July 9. Most strength came from the announcement that India had bought about 1.5 million tons of U.S. white and hard red winter wheat to rebuild stock piles. Russian wheat and grain crop deterioration was offset by improved growing conditions in Australia and Canada.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved strongly upward at mid period when India bought about 1.5 million tons of U.S. white and hard red winter wheat. Some of the advance was lost on Thursday as heavy selling took the edge off the market. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 11 1/2 cents higher per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved up 13 3/4 cents, Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat advanced 23 cents, and Portland soft white wheat rose 23 cents per bushel.

CORN:

Yellow corn strength came from reports of last planted acreage damaged by heavy rains and reports of Russian purchases of 500,000 tons of Argentine wheat, construed as indicative of wheat and feed grain crop deterioration from hot, dry weather. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn closed 10 1/2 cents higher per bushel. White corn trade was inactive at unchanged prices.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Nearby new crop harvest pressure failed to retard advancing oats and barley markets as old crop supplies are tight and mill demand expanded. Chicago heavy oats ranged 4 cents higher. Minneapolis best malting barley traded 5-30 cents lower but feed barley rose 5 cents per bushel. Portland feed barley advanced 14 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum markets moved higher tending to follow corn markets upward and receiving additional support from drying soil conditions in the southwest. Kansas City sorghum advanced 30 cents and Texas High Plains sorghum rose 5-15 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets moved higher as farm selling remains light and processors needed beans to maintain crush. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans traded 31 cents higher. Minneapolis flaxseed held steady in dull trade. Duluth sunflower seed advanced 40 cents per hundred pounds as crushers needed supplies.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Soybean prices turned higher during the week ended July 16. Light farm selling and a pick up in world oilseed trading contributed support. Wheat and feed grain prices finished mostly lower as rains partially alleviated dryness in grain areas of Russia, Canada and the U.S.

WHEAT:

The near record hard red winter wheat crop harvest is approaching wind-up stage in Nebraska and spring wheat harvest is at hand. Improved world wheat production prospects added downward pressure on prices. Kansas City hard red winter wheat declined 8 cents to $4.22 per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat closed at $3.67 about the same as the week before. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat dropped 24 cents to 4.45 per bushel. Medium milling quality hard amber durum fell 5-10 cents as offerings expanded. Portland soft white wheat at $4.30 per bushel was little changed despite increased export business.

CORN:

Yellow corn prices showed strength early but with beneficial rains over much of the midwest, prices moved lower later in the week. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars traded at $3.45 per bushel down slightly from a week earlier. Kansas City milling quality white corn held unchanged at $4.05 per bushel in dull trade.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oat prices declined under new crop harvest pressure but barley prices moved higher as export sales expanded and rains threatened quality of the new crop in the Northern midwest. Best malting barley offerings ranged steady to up 10 cents at $2.80-3.05 per bushel at Minneapolis. Stockton feed barley traded steady to up 3 cents at $3.43-3.48 per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum prices followed the drop in cash corn. At Kansas City prices fell 7 cents to $5.34 per cwt. And prices in the Texas High Plains were mostly steady to 10 cents lower at $5.80-5.90 per cwt.

OILSEEDS:

Oilseed prices finished stronger following Brazil's sale of soybeans and soybean products to the USSR. Poor crush margins and light farm offerings reduced domestic crush. Warm temperatures reduced domestic feed demand and the strong U.S. dollar overseas kept export trade sluggish. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans rose 13 cents to $7.40 per bushel. Minneapolis processing plants raised flaxseed bids 5 cents to $7.80 per bushel to encourage more farm offerings. Expanded export demand moved sunflower seed prices up 15 cents to $12.65 per cwt at Duluth.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat markets turned stronger across the nation during the week ended July 23. Soybean markets weakened and feed grains moved mostly lower. Market supporting factors was the rapid approach of hard winter wheat harvest, a pick up in wheat sales to China, Brazil and Japan, worsening of grain prospects in Europe, Russia, China and India, and well regulated farm selling. Countering forces were listed as disappointing level of inspected grains for export, Brazils aggressive soybean marketing efforts, and poor feeding margins for livestock and poultry. Continued high interest rates added weight to markets.

WHEAT:

Hard winter wheat harvest neared completion with combines moving into the Northern tier of states. Farmers regulated offerings well to keep selling pressure down. Export sales activity contributed strength. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat rose 5 3/4 cents per bushel. Chicago No. 2 soft red winter wheat rose 10 3/4 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat advanced 10 1/2 cents. Portland soft white wheat went up 4 cents per bushel.

CORN:

Feed grain markets were mostly lower as timely rains and cooler temperatures favored corn growth and pollination in the main belt. After the close of Thursday, traders reported Russia had brought additional old crop corn. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn declined 6 3/4 cents. Kansas City milling quality white corn held steady.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Harvest pressure was offset by mill demand for oats and export sales of barley. The Minneapolis market finished 2 cents lower. Minneapolis best malting barley closed unchanged but feed barley rose 5 cents per bushel. Stockton feed barley eased 2 cents lower per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Slow domestic feed demand kept sorghum markets weak as harvest tempo picked up in the Southwest. Kansas City No. 2 yellow sorghum declined 9 cents and Texas High Plains market fell 10-15 cents per hundred pounds. Export bids ranged 2 cents higher per hundred pounds at Gulf ports as traders needed supplies to load waiting ships.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets declined as Brazil aggressively marketed their crop and U.S. crop prospects improved as scattered rains improved moisture conditions for the growing crop. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans traded 13 1/2 cents lower per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 20 cents. Duluth sunflower seed dipped 25 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grains traded lower across the nation during the week ended July 30. Improved new crop production prospects pressured the market as export and domestic usage remained slow. Oilseeds showed a mixed price trend as light farm selling kept buyers bidding higher when supplies were needed for crushing or loading export elevators. All markets showed spotty strength during the week as world weather conditions continued a pattern indicating poor crop prospects in Russia and Europe. This strength was offset by continued good crop prospects in Australia, Canada and the U.S. Strong U.S. dollar market kept export sales at minimum levels and high interest rates discouraged domestic stockpiling.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets continued under pressure of large Canadian, U.S. and Australian crops. High protein yields of winter and spring wheats in Northern U.S. areas caused widespread protein basis weakness. Kansas City hard red winter wheat fell 7 3/4 cents. Chicago soft red winter wheat declined 3 3/4 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat dipped 27 1/4 cents. Portland soft white wheat fell 6 cents.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets fell sharply as improving moisture conditions insured good crop production over a large portion of the corn area and farmers started moving grain to terminals to make room for the new crop. Chicago No.2 yellow corn in hopper cars declined 7 cents. Kansas City white corn markets remained dull but the market fell sharply on the basis of isolated sale of off quality corn. No.2 milling quality white corn dropped 70 cents.

OATS AND BARLEY:

In spite of rain delays, harvest pressure forced oat and feed barley markets lower. Malting barley traded steady to up 10 cents due to much of the new crop offerings showing weather strains and low test weight. Chicago heavy oats fell 23 1/2 cents. Minneapolis oats were steady to 6 cents lower. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to up 10 cents. Minneapolis feed barley went down 8 cents.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum markets declined as harvest approached completion in Texas coastal areas and moved rapidly into other areas. The Kansas City market fell 13 cents, and the Texas High Plains market fell 15 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Oilseed markets moved mixed as new crop prospects improved when timely rains fell over most of the soybean and corn areas, crushers raised basis to attract soybeans from farm storage, and European buying showed a spurt at mid week. Reported business to Russia has not been verified. Chicago No.1 yellow soybeans rose 1/2 cent. Minneapolis sunflower seed firmed on tight farm holding as crushers needed supplies to keep plants running. Duluth market rose 15 cents, and the Minneapolis market went up 25 cents.
